SYNOPSIS

On December 19, 2017, [REDACTED] attended a second site visit at the Culbertson Facility in Anacortes, Washington.

DETAILS

On December 19, 2017, Members of the Washington State Departments of Ecology, Fish and Wildlife, Natural Resources, representatives of [REDACTED], representatives of [REDACTED] defense counsel John Wolf and I conducted a site visit at the Culbertson Facility in Anacortes, Washington.

At the Culbertson Facility, the remnants of Cooke Aquaculture's net pen #2 were placed in a large field and arranged for viewing.

Discussions were held between hired engineers and Wolf, along with one Cooke employee [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] assisted with the issues of Net Pen #2 in August of 2017 and arranged the wreckage at Culbertson's site for review.
